

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION

Called To Meet In Phoenix
December 20

ARIZONA DELEGATES NAMED

There Will be Twenty-Eight Representatives of Each California, New Mexico and Arizona Appointed by Governor.

A Southwestern interstate good roads convention, called by Governor Sloan, to further the interest of territorial highways, a transcontinental highway and good roads in general, will meet in this city December 20. It will be recalled by those who are following the good roads movement, that this project was a result of the annual meeting of the Arizona good roads association in Prescott, early this fall. Governor Sloan was present at that meeting and at that time announced that he would call such a convention. He did so during the fall, but owing to the election then pending in New Mexico the convention was postponed for it was desired to have a full attendance from that territory.

The conceived work of the convention is to form an association in which New Mexico, Arizona and California shall all be equally represented, the association to carry out the purposes indicated in the call. That there might be equal representation the fourteen counties of Arizona were taken as a basis, two delegates to be named from each county and the governors of New Mexico and California each being asked to name 28 delegates. That will make a convention of 84 delegates which will be a body ably representing the southwestern country.

It is unnecessary to recite at this time the vast benefits to follow the development of the good roads idea which is now growing so rapidly, and which Arizona has taken the lead in encouraging in the southwest by the building of its territorial highway system. But it is only fair to Arizona, and to the governor, to say that this is probably the most advanced step yet taken and one that will redound to the credit of both the executive and the budding state. Governor Sloan has announced the following named gentlemen as the delegates from the various counties in Arizona, to the coming convention.

Fred Nelson and Gustav Becker of Apache county; David Babbitt and T. A. Rorden of Coconino county; W. S. Adamson and J. J. Greenway of Cochise county; Charles Solomon and W. T. Webb of Graham county; Del M. Potter and L. L. Turner of Greenlee county; L. A. Whittman and George H. Smalley of Gila county; John R. Whiteside and O. D. M. Gaddis of Mohave county; George Purdy, Ballard and C. F. Ainsworth of Maricopa county; W. H. Clark and R. C. Creswell of Navajo county; F. H. Herford and A. D. Plummer of Pima county; George M. Brockway and C. T. Powell of Pinal county; Bracey Curtis and E. Titcomb of Santa Cruz county; T. G. Norris and R. M. Ling of Yavapai county; Yuma delegates to be announced later.

AH FEE CAUGHT WITH PIPE AND POPPIES

The Dream Stick Was Hot From Smoking Its Ammunition Contraband.

H. S. Creighton, a special customs officer from Nogales, and Frank S. Crandall, a revenue official, yesterday afternoon raided the Chinese lodging house on the alley in the rear of the Arizona Telephone company's central station, grabbed Ah Fee with his still superheated pipe, a number of extra bowls and other paraphernalia, an opium tin still containing a goodly quantity of the drug and several other receptacles holding more or less of it, and marched away to the office of C. W. Johnston, United States court commissioner. Ah Fee pleaded guilty to smoking. He was arrested for having in his possession opium on which no duty had been paid, and which was therefore contraband. He was held to await examination under a bond of $500. Though the bond

Can't Cure Catarrh

Stomach Dosing, Sorrels and Douches Have All Failed.

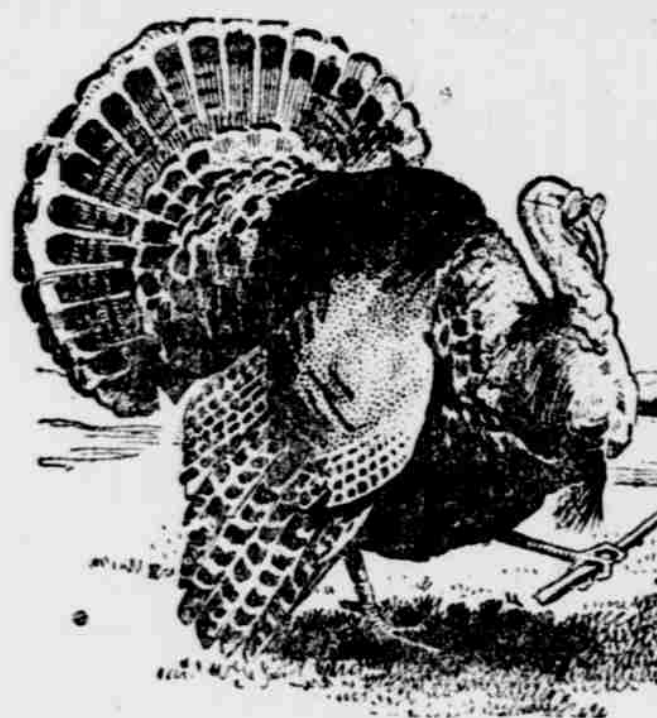

There is only one way to cure catarrh.

Reach the raw, tender, inflamed membrane that is infested with catarrh germs, and destroy the germs.

You can reach the nooks and crevices with only one way—breathe the antiseptic germ killing air of HYOMEL (pronounced: it High-o-mee) directly over the infested parts.

HYOMEL contains no opium, cocaine or other harmful drugs. It is made of Australian eucalyptus, thymol and other Listerian antiseptics. It is guaranteed to end the misery of catarrh, asthma, croup and bronchitis, or money back.

WOMAN'S CLUB BAZAAR BRILLIANT SUCCESS

BOOTHS WERE ARTISTICALLY ARRANGED.

And the Contributions Were Beautiful, Useful or Good to Eat, According to Kind.

The Woman's club held its annual bazaar yesterday, in the afternoon and evening, and netted a goodly sum toward the indebtedness on the new furnishings. The exact amount is not yet known, but it will probably nearly, if not quite, cover the debt.

The club building lent itself to decoration and made the most stunning sort of a background for the booths, flowers and beautiful gowns of the ladies. All the stalls were well arranged and the displays cleverly shown, but the ones that seemed to attract especial attention were the doll, candy and fortune telling departments, which were thronged with persons eager to purchase families for their small girls, boxes of delicious confections or have their palms read by Madame Seerowsky.

The madame, who in ordinary life is Mrs. M. H. Williams, is certainly the cleverest person in the amateur line of fortune telling that the writer has ever happened to encounter. She claims to read the palms of the unwary victims who come to her for occult information, but in watching her, one is led to believe that she picks the facts she relates out of the air in some uncanny manner. She seemed, indeed, a seer.

In the linen booth, among the various pieces of dainty handwork was seen some handsome specimens of Irish crochet work, done by an old English lady of 76 years. They were very beautiful and were really remarkable examples of artistic skill and industry when one considers the age of the maker.

Another exhibit worthy of especial mention was the display of flowers. Phoenix people have become so accustomed to the American beauty rose that they no longer go into ecstasies over its glory and fragrance even when they see it used in great profusion for decorative purposes. The gorgeous chrysanthemums seen at the bazaar, however, were a surprise to many who were not aware that it was possible to raise them here and bring them to such perfection.

The bazaar was well attended both in the afternoon and evening, a number of gentlemen coming in at the latter session.

A much more extended notice of the bazaar will be given in the Sunday issue.

SITE IS LOST.

The site of the ancient city of Carthage, once the mistress of the Mediterranean, has now been so much built upon that it may be regarded as irretrievably lost to science. So says Prof. Schulten in the Annual of the German Archaeological Institute. The German savant makes a spirited appeal to save at least the western parts of the site from what he stigmatizes as the horrible vandalism of the modern builder. Two electric street car lines now cut through the city of Hamibia; the Byrsa is defaced by ugly modern hotels, and "desirable" villas have sprung up everywhere. Prof. Schulten strongly advocates the formation of a society "pro Carthagine," whose task it should be to save from the ready speculator what remains of Carthage for science by the acquisition of land to be set apart for excavation purposes.

Finances and Markets

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Irregular and contradictory movements gave stocks a confused appearance today. Quotations gave way under the force of professional selling, after a fairly strong opening. During the remainder of the day until just before the close the list was weak, although the movement was comparatively narrow. But few stocks lost more than a point. In the last 15 minutes of trading there was a complete change. An active buying movement dispelled the weakness of the market and prices bounded upward until at the close a large portion of the list registered small gains. The ostensible reason for this late advance was a widely circulated rumor in regard to the character of the presidential message to be sent to congress next week. Traders recalled that almost, every year conjectural reports of this nature are circulated within a week preceding the assembling of congress. Money rates made a further advance today. Call loans made 3 1/2 per cent, the highest this year. Time loans were strong. There was a break of 20 points in foreign exchange rates. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $4,630,000. Silver 55 1/2.
